The Queen Ant, dressed in a red sequined gown and crazy red hat, sings, "The queen of ants is having a feast! Come one, come all, get ready to eat!" And her army—dozens of marching children who, for the moment, think they are ants—happily follows.

Singing team SANDI AND STEVIE (Sandi's the Queen Ant) draw crowds of hopping, buzzing children wherever they perform their Insect Songs show: private parties, school assemblies, or at Children's Fairyland in Oakland.

Now this Danville duo is perfecting a new routine, Sealife Songs. They have also just cut a video of their biggest hit, "Green Grasshopper," which had the audience at Danville's International Children's Film Festival in stitches.
